Makes The Hair Grow

We are talking about Ayer's Hair Vigor. Just note that word "Ayer's." You are perfectly safe with it. No harm to you or to your hair. Makes the hair grow? It certainly does. Stops falling hair, too. Remember, it's "Ayer's" we are talking about. Ask your doctor about your hair and about Ayer's Hair Vigor. Get his approval. Your own doctor and "Ayer's" make a strong combination. It means faith, confidence, satisfaction.

ALL PRISONERS SHOULD STRIKE

The spectacle of city and county prisoners taking a decided stand against manual labor, refusing to turn to and perform menial tasks set before them, and demanding that the yoke of oppression be lifted instantly, are some of the startling matters of import that may confront Sheriff William Jarrett and City and County Jailers Asch, this otherwise glad some Yuletide.

All this and more would happen, should the one hundred inmates of the city bastille, heed the stirring advice freely offered by A. V. Roe, who declined to contribute five dollars, levied by District Magistrate Monarrat as a minimum fine, for riding a bicycle on a downtown sidewalk. "I am a martyr to the tyrannical rich," dramatically declared Roe, who, invited to give his version of all that occurred and led up to his arrest and incarceration at the receiving station.

"The capitalistic class are after me because I represent the I. W. W." Roe was reminded that in this instance it was an overworked and very nominally paid policeman that assisted in rounding him up on a quiet Sunday afternoon, when repeatedly warned not to ride his rubber-shod vehicle on a Hotel street sidewalk.

The representative of the Industrial Workers of the World had launched forth in a stirring denunciation of topics ranging from capital and cannibalism, big business and bull moose, law and lucre, when a flow of oratory that gave promise of continuing unabated for several hours, was checked through the interposition of Prosecuting Attorney A. M. Brown.

Demanding the right to go to jail in lieu of paying a fine, Roe was sent down to the receiving station.

Here he gathered around him a score of prisoners then awaiting a trip to the Iwilei health resort. All hands were urged to strike, to refuse to go to work, for, according to Roe, the city and county would then be obliged to hire workers from outside the walls of a prison, to labor on City streets or parks.

The harangue failed to enlist any great amount of enthusiasm, for about that time the cook sounded the gong for dinner, and beef stew drowned further verbal pyrotechnics.

DETAILS GIVEN OF DARE'S DEATH

Newspapers arriving today give details of the death of John T. Dare, who was attorney-general under King Kalakaua for two years. The San Francisco Call of December 16 says: "John T. Dare, who for ten years held the office of Appraiser of the port of San Francisco, passed away early yesterday evening, thus ending a long season of illness which finally culminated in a complication of disorders which could not be withstood.

"Dare was in his seventieth year and was born in Long Island City, N. Y., in 1842. He came to California in 1862, and twenty years later was admitted to the bar. After practicing law in this city for several years he successively held the offices of Prosecuting and District Attorney, for two years, during the reign of King Kalakaua of Hawaii. Dare was the chief legal adviser of that monarch, at whose demise he returned to San Francisco and entered the customs service. After two years spent as a deputy collector he was made Appraiser of the port, completing his incumbency in 1907, when he was presented with a silver loving cup by the customs brokers of the city. He was a prominent member of the "New Yorkers."

"With the retirement from public service Dare resumed his profession as attorney, continuing practice until the illness set in which caused his death.

"He is survived by his widow, Annette M. Dare, and three daughters, Mrs. Theodore K. Rameine of Oakland, Mrs. H. G. Corwin of Los Angeles and Mrs. Bernard Franklin of this city.

"Notice of the interment will be made later."
